DONALD TRUMP: THE BAILOUT BILLIONAIRE

It pays to be the son of a NYC real estate tycoon. Fred Trump's business success not only provided Donald with a posh youth of private schools and economic security, but also gave him an inheritance windfall worth an estimated $40-$200 million. Notably, his father's success was enabled and buffered by government programs, including financing from the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and building FHA-backed housing for members of the Navy.
