PROVINCIAL ELECTION VOTING GUIDE

www.uniforvotes.ca

The Sask Party is just not listening.

The rising cost of living is putting the squeeze on families in Saskatchewan. But things are only going to get worse if we let the Sask Party privatize and sell-off our crown corporations and public services to their friends.

Enough is enough. We need a government that listens.

It took generations for the people of this province to build great crown corporations and public services.

These services keep costs down and maintain control in the hands of people who live and work here.

But that doesn't matter to the Saskatchewan Party. They've already sold off DirectWest and Heritage Gas and now they have their eyes on selling off more of your great public assets.

This has to stop, and this election is the way to stop privatization.

Protecting and shoring up Saskatchewan crown corporations will help ensure that you keep control over local resources and keep good jobs in the province.

Unifor members have been trying to tell this to the Sask Party for years, but they're just not listening. It's time for a government that listens.

Sincerely,

Jerry Dias
Unifor National President

WHAT IS THE GOVERNMENT'S RECORD?

When it comes to our crowns and privatization, the Sask Party just isn't listening to us. And if they're not listening to us, who are they listening to?

Polling shows that two thirds of us believe privatization will grow inequality in Saskatchewan.

But the Sask Party is making things worse:

- They sold off parts of our crown corporations, like SaskTel's internet services and e-mail
- Schools, hospitals and roads are being built under private ownership or control—like the Regina bypass and its $1.9-billion price tag
- Hospital laundry and correctional food services are being handed over to private operators who cut corners
- Profitable public liquor stores could soon be sold off to private vendors
- They're allowing private MRI clinics, so people can pay extra to jump the queue

Back in 2007, the Sask Party made a promise not to privatize our cherished crown corporations. But they've broken that promise by undermining and privatizing public services.

WHY SHOULD WE BELIEVE THEM NOW?
