

UNION BENEFITS

The AEAV is here to legally advise and support all Ambulance Victoria employees. Your success at work is our priority, and we look forward to helping you achieve your professional goals throughout your career.

You may have heard from other providers about the benefits of joining a union. We know it can be tricky to choose the one that's right for you, so we've put together a brief outline of why joining Australia's largest Paramedic union is the right choice. Highlighted are the benefits available through AEAV.

Superior Professional Indemnity Insurance

Comprehensive indemnity insurance to ensure that all facets of the AHPRA registration standard are met. Each claim is to a maximum of $20,000,000 and covers members of AEAV wherever they work in Australia, including members involved in study involving patients, volunteer work, policy development roles, and more.

Legal Representation including with AHPRA

AEAV represent members during formal and informal meetings. We employ an extensive and experienced legal team who manage any issues arising out of the course of your employment. Members also have access to law experts through Maurice Blackburn in the event a matter escalates.

Support throughout your career with 15% off Psychometric Coaching!

AV use psych tests to assess promotional and employment suitability.

Experienced Paramedics and well qualified Graduate Paramedic applicants have failed these tests. If you fail, your application will be delayed by 6 or 12 months. AEAV Members can access discounted Psychometric Coaching through our partnership with the Institute of Psychometric Coaching, to ensure members have a fair chance at achieving their professional goals. Our members who have completed this coaching have all then passed.

Free Online Continuing Professional Development for AHPRA purposes

Online learning Talisium is a massive library of free and paid-for clinical and non-clinical micro-skills courses from some of the world's most respected professional and academic organisations.

Talisium is accessible anywhere in the world, and stores your certificates, learning history, collates your CPD hours and reflections earned through Talisium and other training portals all in one convenient location.
