

Manuel D. Medina, Chief Executive Officer, Cyxtera Technologies

Mr. Medina is the Chief Executive Officer of Cyxtera Technologies, a global leader in data center infrastructure and cybersecurity solutions. Medina is an experienced and highly successful businessman and entrepreneur in the IT infrastructure and cybersecurity industries.

Medina was the Founder, Chairman of the Board and CEO of Terremark, a publicly traded company on NASDAQ until April of 2011, when Terremark was acquired by Verizon for an enterprise value of $2 billion. Under his leadership, Terremark distinguished itself as the leading global provider of managed IT infrastructure services for Fortune 500 enterprises and federal government agencies. At Terremark, Mr. Medina brought his vision to deliver a comprehensive set of best-of-breed IT infrastructure services from purpose-built, carrier-neutral data center facilities to fruition.

Following the sale of Terremark, Mr. Medina founded Medina Capital in 2012, a private equity firm investing in innovative companies in the cybersecurity, data analytics, cloud infrastructure and software-as-a-service markets. He currently serves as its Managing Partner.

Mr. Medina is also the founder and chairman of the board of eMerge Americas, the premier B2B technology event connecting the U.S., Latin America and Europe. He has been recognized with accolades from many business and community organizations for his leadership and community service.

Medina is a frequent speaker on topics ranging from technology trends and global business to entrepreneurship and has served as either a keynote speaker or panelist at large investor conferences and IT industry tradeshows. His leadership in the IT industry and insightful analysis of market trends have resulted in appearances on NBC News, CNBC, Bloomberg TV and Fox Business as well as interviews with global media outlets. Medina received a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting from Florida Atlantic University and began his career as a certified public accountant at Price Waterhouse.
