WELCOME

Welcome to a world of possibility.
Welcome to a place where a different kind of politics awaits you.
Welcome to the heart of Britain's only feminist political party.
Welcome to the Women's Equality Party conference.

You are one of a thousand brilliant activists for change who are stepping up this weekend to make our party's blueprint for equality a reality. Over the next few days WE are going to equip each other with the information, skills and training to build the world we want to see. Our emphasis is on the practical but our ambition for change has never been greater. Because feminism has never been more important and more needed than it is right now.

The two years since our first conference have brought huge achievements for our young party, from establishing our network of branches, growing our movement and fielding inspiring election candidates, to influencing other parties' policies, forming non-partisan partnerships and forcing a national conversation about the limits of pale, male and stale politics.

But those same two years have seen a doubling-down by those who oppose equality; the cynical engineering of a national emergency in order to take aim at women's hard-won, sex-based rights and protections; an unrelenting assault on the state that is an assault on support for women; and a deliberate and sustained attempt to set the entire electorate at odds with one another - all to distill power into the hands of a small cabal of angry men.

While other party leaders persistently fail to see women and understand the root causes of our oppression; I say to all of you here - this is our opportunity to challenge tired thinking with exuberant imagination as we detail the vision of our liberation.

Let's blow closed minds open with the vast potential of feminist economics. Let's flood the world with the light of bright new ideas on trade and immigration. Let's shake the crumbling foundations of failing justice systems to the ground and demand fairness and respect for all.

Let's celebrate our history by raising the bar for future generations of women so that we no longer settle for crumbs and compromise but assert and achieve what is rightfully ours: powerful lives that are free from violence. Let's fulfil the promise first made to us by our mothers and pledge it anew to our daughters.

When I won the leadership election earlier this year I vowed to be an optimistic feminist. Because I knew that in these tough times we would all need hope more than ever; not just because hope is our greatest support but because hope is also the ultimate act of defiance, our biggest asset and advantage. Ours is a movement of joyful resistance.

Look at what we have achieved already and know that WE can change the future. YOU can change the world. Because you're here. And because women's equality is better for everyone.

With gratitude and love

Sophie Walker
Leader of the Women's Equality Party

Welcome to the Women's Equality Party's second-ever party conference and to Kettering, a town famous according to its Conservative MP Philip Hollobone "as the home of Weetabix breakfast cereal".

Also for at least two seismic political events. One was the 2016 launch of Grassroots Out, the group supported by Nigel Farage, Liam Fox and the aforementioned Hollobone that promoted Brexit no matter the consequences for women. Another was an uprising in 1607 by the movement known as the Levellers. That uprising failed, perhaps because as with so many men of the left, they aimed to empower men but forgot about women, who ended up campaigning on their own.

Given this history, perhaps the best way to think of our conference is not just as the party's most important opportunity to debate and decide policy, but also as a kind of exorcism, or as WE Party leader Sophie Walker likes to say, "they Brexit, WE fix it". This is an opportunity for members to come together to figure out how to build a society that works for everyone, of all genders, and that means tackling the monumental mess that old politics has made.

It's worth noting that WE would have held a party conference last year if Theresa May hadn't called the snap election that snapped back at her. WE fought that election in seven Westminster constituencies, straight after county council elections in Swansea, Worcester and Tunbridge Wells and a by-election in Sheffield Southey Ward as well as for Liverpool's regional mayor. WE barely had time to draw breath before yet more polls - this year's local elections and Lewisham East by-election. Each delivered clear wins, by developing our capacity, our amazing roster of candidates and activists, our influence and our reach. In three of our local election seats the candidates received the support of 1 in 4 local voters and our Islington candidate Nikki Uppal secured second place in Hillrise ward.

The Women's Equality Party was founded not only to make change happen directly but to open up politics and to push the complacent older parties to do better. Since our first party conference, in Manchester in November 2016, WE have succeeded in all respects, working with other parties and organisations in the women's sector to tackle revenge porn, protect women's employment rights, force universal free childcare onto the political agenda and fight for our reproductive rights in every part of the UK.

Even so, and much as we - Catherine and Sandi - look forward to the next three days, this is not a time for complacency. We always understood the challenges of operating in a system designed to exclude many more voices than it includes, and we also knew that there are tough debates that risk dividing feminism and pitting some of the most marginalised against each other.

We co-founded this party to bring about the gender equality that both of us had expected long ago. Instead we see regressive waves that threaten to engulf not only the UK but many other countries, sweeping away some of the rights and protections we thought secure.

There is such an urgency to the work WE are all gathered here to do. Thank you for your dedication, ideas and spirit. Let the conference begin. And welcome once again.

2018 CONFERENCE

MAKING CHANGE HAPPEN!

ABOUT

THE WOMEN'S EQUALITY PARTY

WE are a focused mainstream party. WE have seven core objectives: equal representation in all areas of working life; equal pay; equal parenting and caregiving; equal education; equal media treatment; ending violence against women and girls; and equality in healthcare and medical research - and one overarching goal: gender equality. Societies and economies cannot thrive unless women thrive.

WE are the only collaborative force in UK politics. WE try wherever possible to work with other parties towards improving the status of women. WE have co-authored amendments to revenge porn legislation with the Liberal Democrats, and worked with the Greens to submit an amendment to the article 50 bill and fight to protect women's employment rights

WE do not believe that the push for gender equality belongs solely to one part of the political spectrum, and so we open our membership to members of other political parties. WE do believe that England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland have the potential to be the first gender equal countries in the world.

WE also stand candidates in our own right and achieved some fantastic successes in this year's local elections with WEP candidates Claire Empson, Rebecca Manson Jones and Janet Baker receiving support from 25% of voters in their areas, and Islington candidate Nikki Uppal achieving second place in Hillrise ward.

Equality for women isn't a women's issue. When women fulfill their potential, everyone benefits. Equality means better politics, a more vibrant economy, a workforce that draws on the talents of the whole population and a society at ease with itself.

This party conference will add to our policy platform and may change existing policies. WE do not seek to take a party line on issues outside our remit of gender equality. The last year has seen a major shift in the coverage of feminist issues. This conference is all about seizing that opportunity and using it to make real change happen in our communities.

How WE are Making Change Happen

From rising as the UK's fastest-growing political party to becoming a serious national political force with candidates standing in local, regional and national elections, WE have been continuously fighting for equality. Only three years old and WE can count among the changes not only important shifts in the conversation but also policies and action reflecting the power of our collective voice and movement.

The start up

- Founded by Catherine Mayer and Sandi Toksvig in March 2015
- First public meeting held in March 2015
- Second public meeting held in April 2015
- Registered as a UK political party and opened to membership in July 2015
- First local branch established in Lothian in July 2015
- 10 regional events held across the UK to crowdsource policies
- Policies launched in October 2015
- First Party Conference in Manchester in November 2016
- Manchester one-day conference held in November 2017
- Leadership election held in February 2018
- Stirling one-day Scottish conference held in June 2018

WE are still just three years old! And it's been an incredible three years. Thanks to the hard work and dedication of our members we've been able to grow from a passing comment between our two founders to a serious national political force. This year we had our first ever leadership election, returning WE leader Sophie Walker with over 90% of the vote. We have achieved an incredible amount in such a short period of time, but there is still so much to do - we need your help to make that happen.

Campaigns

- Istanbul Convention
- Time It's Not a Crime campaign
- Out of Office campaign for equal pay
- Storming the Save the Children boardroom to challenge sexual abuse and harassment
- Campaign for the home use of abortion pills
- Propelling universal child care onto the political agenda
- Strengthening stalking laws
- Challenging the fashion industry's approach to body image

- Tackling revenge porn
- WEcount, taking on sexual violence, harassment and abuse

WE are all here to make change happen. WE exist to see our policies brought into effect across the UK. Our unique approach to politics has meant we have been able to work with other political parties and organisations in the women's sector to fight for real action on issues like stalking and revenge porn. WE have also launched campaigns to challenge the fashion industry's approach to body image, champion women's reproductive rights and propel universal child care onto the political agenda.

Elections

- First cohort of WE candidates selected in January 2016
- Elections in Scotland, Wales and London in May 2016
- Brockley by-election in Lewisham in October 2016
- Liverpool Mayoral Election in March 2017
- Local Elections in South Wales and Tunbridge Wells in March 2017
- General Election 2017 in June 2017
- Lewisham East by-election in June 2018

WE exist to challenge the old political parties electorally. It's what sets us apart from all the other amazing organisations in the women's sector. Over the past few years WE has challenged elections across the UK and won the support of hundreds of thousands of electors. The more elections we challenge the more we will hold the old parties to account and force them to create feminist policies.

The movement

- Co-organised Women's March for London in January 2017
- Centenary projection in February 2018
- Make Your Mark in March 2018
- Thank you Trump campaign in July 2018

Since WE were founded, the Women's Equality Party has played a key role in the wider feminist movement. WE co-organised the first Women's March to protest Donald Trump's inauguration, celebrated the centenary of the first women getting the vote with a projection onto Parliament, launched our Make Your Mark campaign to get more women into politics and challenged Donald Trump on his visit to the UK.

PARTY CONFERENCE

Party conference is the supreme decision-making body of the Women's Equality Party. Get ready to make your voice heard!

Sunday will be dedicated to party business where we will debate and vote on motions in order to decide party policy. Motions are put forward in advance by members and can be seen online at womensequality.org.uk/conf18\_motions. Each motion has a named proposer, who will be given five minutes to introduce their motion at conference.

Any member can ask to speak for or against a motion. To do this, just fill in a speaker's card before or during the debate. The conference Chair decides for how long each motion is debated before it is moved to vote and will choose a selection of speakers who are both for and against. Every party member who is attending conference has the right to vote on the motion by holding up their wristband. If the motion is approved it becomes a WE resolution. Once counting has taken place, the Chair will announce the result.

On Sunday WE will

- Elect new Policy Committee members
- Elect new Steering Committee members
- Debate and vote on motions
- Report to conference

What is your role as a member delegate?

As a WE member delegate you have the right to participate in debates, to vote on policy motions and to elect the Policy Committee members and the representatives who will sit on the Steering Committee. You have the responsibility to be present during party business sessions and to ensure that the party is operating effectively.

YOUR GUIDE

TO CONFERENCE

Our aim is to make sure you feel confident on all things conference. Below is some essential information to make sure your Women's Equality Party conference runs as smoothly as possible. Our team of staff and volunteers is on hand to help at any time.

Registration

Our friendly registration team is available to help throughout the three days of party conference. Find them in the Main Foyer of the conference centre where you can show your ticket and ID and collect your wristband for the weekend. Please arrive promptly and have your ticket QR code and photo ID to hand (printed or on your smartphone) to ensure that everyone is able to access the venue quickly and easily. Volunteers can answer any questions and help with any issues you may have. At the registration desk, grab your specially designed sticker that best describes where you are in your activist journey with WE.

Conference wristbands

For security reasons, conference delegates are requested to wear conference wristbands at all times. Please remember that delegate wristbands are non-transferable. Your wristband lets the WE team know whether you are a voting delegate or an observer. Members need to wear their wristband all weekend, as they allow you to vote during party business. Speakers need to wear their wristbands to be allowed into the allocated green rooms. Press need to wear wristbands to be allowed into the press room.

Conference volunteers

We have a fantastic team of volunteers who are giving their time and energy to help make this event a success. Volunteers will be wearing a Women's Equality Party sash and are on hand to answer questions, give directions and provide whatever help is needed to ensure that you get the most out of this weekend.

Accessibility

The Women's Equality Party is committed to ensuring that all delegates are able to access all aspects of conference events. There is a hearing loop set up at the front of the Fair Isle room (main stage). Accessible seating, reserved parking and step-free access have been arranged for those who have requested it upon booking tickets. If you have access needs of any kind, please ask for the access co-ordinator at registration to help us ensure that you enjoy all aspects of conference.

Cloakroom

For delegates wishing to store their coats during the day there is a cloakroom at reception, on the ground floor near registration. Please ask at the reception desk for guidance. There is minimal space for bag and luggage storage, so please don't bring bags to store, unless totally necessary.

Toilets

There are accessible toilets on both floors of the conference venue. On the ground floor they can be found just off the Lakeside Foyer (via the Main Foyer) and on the first floor they are next to the Marketplace. Please ask a volunteer or a WE staff member if you need guidance.

Meeting people and making time

One of the best things about going to conference is meeting other members and supporters, speakers and staff. Take advantage of the Lakeside Foyer meeting area, the self-organising space, and the food stall area. Be sure to build in some time for meeting new people, catching up with your branch and chatting with friends.

Marketplace

Don't forget to visit the Marketplace, which is located in the Gallery on the second floor of the conference centre (lift accessible). We have some exciting retailers and exhibitors offering great merchandise, information, advice and more. Please stop by their stands and say hello. You will find a list of exhibitors at the back of this programme.

WIFI

Free WiFi is available throughout the conference centre.

Log-in: KCC guest user
Password: kcc12345

Conference and social media

WE will be active on social media throughout conference and hope you will be too. Be part of the conversation by tweeting and posting using #WE2018 and @WEP_UK and follow us on:

twitter.com/wep\_uk
instagram.com/wep\_uk
facebook.com/womensequalityuk

Video and photography

Party conference will be photographed and filmed. Attendees will also be taking photos and video that may be shared on social media. Your image may appear in future publications, promotional material or online. By entering the venue, you implicitly authorise the potential use of your image in such materials. However, if you have personal reasons not to be included, please let us know as soon as you can and we will try our best to exclude you from any official photographs or films taken.

Cash and cards

There is a cash point at the local Co-op, a 10-minute walk from the conference centre. All bars, food stalls and retailers on site take cards. Please note that if you would like to bring cash, you may want to withdraw it before arriving at the conference centre.

Quiet and Prayer room

We have a dedicated space for anyone who requires a quiet space at times to enable them to engage fully with the conference. The Bamburgh room is on the first floor and is accessible by lift from the ground floor. If you need help locating it please speak to a member of staff or a volunteer.

First Aid

Should you feel unwell or require medical assistance during the conference, please notify the nearest member of staff, volunteer or member of the security team. There are first-aiders on site, able to assist you.

Lost property

Lost property will be handed into the reception desk in the Main Foyer of the conference centre. This is also where lost property should be collected from.

Food and Drink

Food and drink can be found at the food stalls located outside the conference centre or at the bars located inside on the ground floor. Food stalls are open for a specified period on each day (listed in the 'timetable at a glance'). A range of dietary requirements including vegetarian, vegan and gluten free have been catered for.

Security

SIA registered security are stationed around the venue. To ensure your visit is smooth, there will be bag checks on your way into the venue. We hope to make security as discreet as possible, but they are there to make sure any problems are dealt with swiftly.

Teas, coffees, alcoholic beverages can be purchased from the multiple bars inside the conference centre.

4 STEPS

TO TAKING PART IN PARTY BUSINESS

READ

Familiarise yourself with the motions

First step is to read through all the published motions, amendments to motion and emergency motions.

Then make a note of which ones you're most interested in, and consider whether you agree or disagree with them.

Next you can decide whether you'd like to contribute to the debate.

SPEAK

Fill in and submit a speaker's card

The proposer of the motion gets 5 minutes to make their case and then the floor is opened up for debate, with speakers selected by the Chair.

If you decide on the day - or even during the debate - that you'd like to speak in a debate motion, simply fill in a speaker's card. Speaker's cards are available throughout the day on Sunday.

The speaker's card asks if you are for or against the motion or amendment. If you're called by the Chair to speak in a debate, you'll have up to three minutes to speak. You will be given time to get to the podium and get comfortable before you are asked to speak.

There are different ways to shape a debate, including points of order, moving to a vote and referencing a motion back to be developed and brought back to the next conference.

If you'd like to find out more about speaking then read the Standing Orders - this is the best guidance available to help you understand what the debates will be like.

LISTEN

Attend debates

The order of debates is set out in Agenda day 3.

Some debates will be longer than others, depending on the agenda and on how many people want to speak in them.

There are some party representative who can speak on any motion, amendment or emergency motion. The Policy Committee and Executive Committee can nominate a member to speak on their behalf depending the type of motion (set out in the Standing Orders).

The Party Leader can speak on any motion, amendment or emergency motion.

Amendments to motions are debated in the order set out in the programme. The proposer of each amendment speaks before anyone else on that amendment, and sums up after the other speakers on that amendment. The proposer of the original motion has the right to respond to any or all of the amendments.

The Chair directs the order of the debate and seeks a balanced conversation by selecting speakers both for and against the motion, if applicable.

The proposer of the motion sums up after all the other speakers.

VOTE

Have your say

At the end of the debate, delegates will be asked to cast their vote for or against the amendment, and then for or against the motion as amended or not.

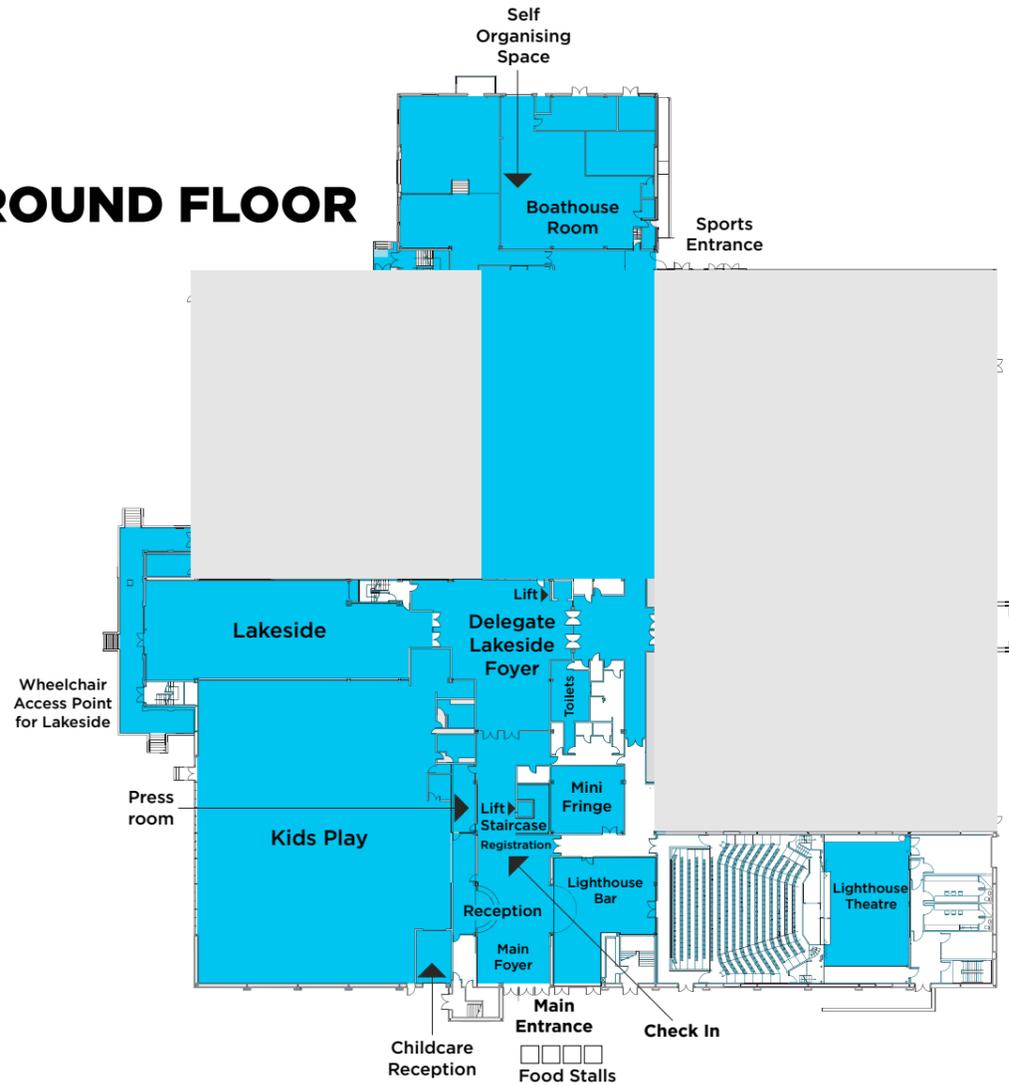

Most motions require a simple majority to pass.

Motions to change the constitution require a two thirds majority.

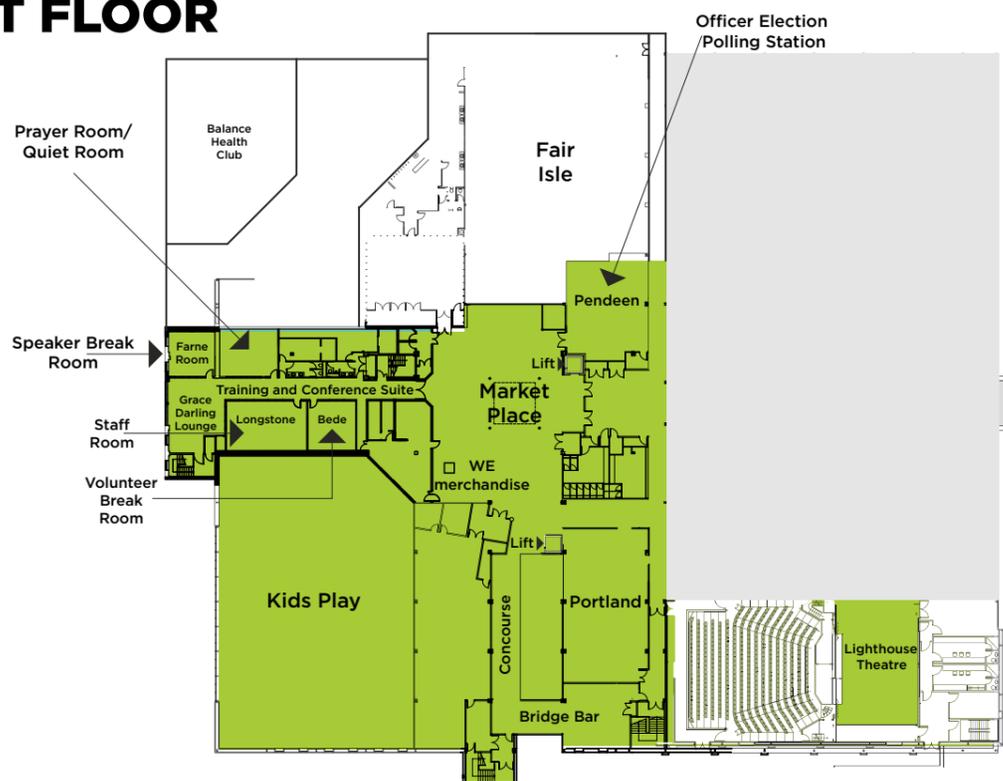

Motions passed by conference become party policy or change the way the party does business.

This session is a 101 in feminist economics. It will explore the extraordinary devaluation of women's contributions, and the wide ranging impact on our society and economy. There may also be pictures of baby orangutans.

Related motions: Ratification of manifesto policies: Universal free childcare and Nine months shared parental leave on 90% of pay; Writing off historic child support arrears; Making equal pay and equal caregiving a reality in the modern labour market .

14:00 Lighthouse Theatre

Cross Party Panel: Getting More Women into Policies

Speakers: Nicky Morgan MP, Rosie Duffield MP, Harini Iyengar, Amelia Womack

This session will mark the centenary of the first women getting the vote, by exploring not only how we get women into politics but how we get them into policies. This lively session will reimagine political priorities and economic models with women's needs and contributions in mind.

Related motions: A Women's Equality Party policy on Brexit; Ensuring that settled status will take into account women's, children's and vulnerable groups' needs.

15:00 Lighthouse Theatre

Turn Off the Red Light

Speakers: Mia de Faoite, Halla Gunnarsdóttir

This powerful first-hand account from survivor and activist Mia de Faoite will break down the myths about prostitution and explore its links to violence. It will look at the lessons that can be learned from the successful campaign to end demand in the Republic of Ireland.

Related motions: Delivering Nil Cap Limit on Local Authorities' Sexual Entertainment Venues Policies.

CONTENT WARNING: This session contains information about sexual assault and/or violence which may be upsetting to survivors.

16:00 Lighthouse Theatre

The 93%: Improving conviction rates for rape and sexual violence

Speakers: Harriet Wistrich, Femi Otiotoju, Olivia Smith, Jenn Selby, Emily Hunt

Women, as victims, defendants and witnesses suffer very significant structural disadvantages within the criminal justice system. This discussion will examine whether better training, implementation and investment would be enough to make improvements in the handling and prosecution of violence against women and girls, or whether we need to radically rethink our approach to criminal justice.

Related motions: Provision for Parental-Engagement Programmes in Relationships and Sex Education (RSE), Protecting Migrant Domestic Workers against Abuse and Servitude, Delivering Nil Cap Limit on Local Authorities' Sexual Entertainment Venues Policies

CONTENT WARNING: This session contains information about sexual assault and/or violence which may be upsetting to survivors.

17:30 Lighthouse Theatre Any Answers

Speakers: Sophie Walker

The session will look at the questions most often asked about the Women's Equality Party, as well as the hardest ones to answer. And it will reveal the humour, passion and persistence needed to make sure your answer is heard.

09:00 Fair Isle Medically Unexplained Symptoms

Speakers: Hannah Barham Brown, Christine Ekechi, Athena Lamnisos, Erin Mansell

Medically unexplained symptoms is a catch all term for the things the medical world doesn't understand about women's health. This session will focus on how different areas of women's health are shaped by inequality and how we can campaign for change.

Related motions: Calling on the Government to give women equal access to sterilisation as a permanent form of contraception; A policy on Health and Social Care; A motion to protect the long-term sustainability of the NHS .

CONTENT WARNING: This session contains information about trauma and consent which may be upsetting to some delegates.

10:00 Fair Isle Big Data: Will Technology Fix Inequality or Deepen It?

Speakers: Catherine Mayer, Audrey Tang by video, Kate Devlin, Karen Salt, Seyi Akiwowo

Data-driven technology is transforming the world, promising new ways to measure and combat inequality. But at the same time it is creating forces that risk deepening inequality. This debate will ask what can be done to mitigate the dangers and maximise potential benefits.

Related motions: Women's Equality Party working group on tech and innovation.

11:30 Fair Isle Women In the Line of Fire

Speakers: Nazir Afzal OBE, Halla Gunnarsdóttir, Sukhwant Dhaliwal, Joan Smith

This panel will take a challenging look at the links between acts of terror or mass violence and violence against women and girls, as well as the women who are leading the resistance.

CONTENT WARNING: This session contains information about violence which may be upsetting to survivors.

12:30 Fair Isle The Story so Far (film)

13:00 Fair Isle Leader's Speech to Conference

Sophie Walker

14:30 Fair Isle No Woman's Land

Speakers: Hannah Peaker, Emine Çolak, Bronagh Hinds, Natalie Reynolds

This discussion will focus on women's role in negotiations, and their extraordinary contributions to ending violent conflict. It will explore the different ways that women negotiate outcomes, and what it is like working collaboratively when everyone else is throwing rocks.

15:30 Fair Isle Nil Points: Immigration policy post-Brexit

Speakers: Stephanie Harrison QC, Pragna Patel, Aderonke Apata, Parvati Raghuram

This panel will explore the gendered aspects of migration, including how female migrants experience and navigate globalisation, and consider how post-Brexit immigration systems might benefit or disadvantage women.

Related motions: Protecting Migrant Domestic Workers against Abuse and Servitude; Ensuring that Settled Status will take into account women's, children's and vulnerable groups' needs; A Feminist Foreign Policy; Women's Equality Party policy on Brexit.

17:00 Fair Isle Repeal the Hate

Speakers: Claudia Craig, Ailbhe Smyth, Emma Campbell, Rachael Clarke

This panel will explore what's next in the campaign for decriminalisation of abortion in the UK. In the last year we have seen the success of the Repeal the 8th campaign in Ireland and the home use campaign in Scotland, Wales and England, but there is still a long road ahead in the battle for bodily autonomy.

Related motions: A Feminist Foreign Policy.

CONTENT WARNING: This session contains information about trauma and consent which may be upsetting to some delegates.

09:00 Portland Tales from the Trail

CONTENT WARNING: This session contains information about sexual assault and/or violence which may be upsetting to survivors.

14:00 Portland Parity Begins at Home

Speakers: Halla Gunnarsdóttir, Victoria Showunmi, Dr Tracey Jensen, Giselle Cory

This panel will explore why there has been so little progress towards universal free childcare and truly shared parental leave in a year when pay inequality made the headlines every week. It will ask whether it is possible to have equality in the workplace, when we still don't have equality at home.

Related motions: Writing off Historic Child Support Arrears; Extending and enforcing gender pay gap reporting; Universal free childcare; Making equal pay and equal caregiving a reality in the modern labour market.

15:00 Portland Changes to the Gender Recognition Act

Speakers: Claire McCann, Cath Casserley

This seminar is designed for those who have very little understanding of the existing legal framework on transgender law, and the current consultation on suggested legal amendments to that framework.

Related motions: Gender Recognition Act.

16:00 Portland This Century Is Ours

Speakers: Sam Smethers, Sophie Walker, Amika George, Shola Mos-Shogbamimu

This debate will take a look at feminist protest old and new, from the Suffragettes and Suffragists through to #MeToo, and ask what we can learn from them in this critical moment for women's equality. It will explore what works and what kind of movement we need to be to seize the turbulence.

10:00 Pendeen Any Questions

Speakers: Chris Paouros, Policy Committee candidates, Steering Committee candidates

EXHIBITORS

Marketplace: Come and say hello to our excellent exhibitors and retailers

Make time to visit the Marketplace, which is located in the first floor Gallery. WE have some fantastic exhibitors and retailers offering information, advice and fun items for sale. Drop by their stands, say hello and enjoy the chance to shop. While you are there, come and visit the WE stall and pick up a conference souvenir.

Let Toys Be Toys

Let Toys Be Toys is an award-winning campaign asking the toy and publishing industries to stop limiting children's interests by labelling some toys and books as only suitable for girls, and others only for boys.

Boudavida

Boudavida is a sports and activewear company making a difference to women's sport. We create performance clothing that makes women feel good about their bodies and inspired to get active. We donate 5% from every purchase to projects that help more women improve their health, life and wellbeing through sport and exercise.

Women's Budget Group

The Women's Budget Group is at the forefront of scrutinising government policy from a gender perspective. We are a network of leading feminist economists, researchers, policy experts and campaigners committed to achieving a more gender equal future. We have been working towards this since 1989.

@WomensBudgetGrp

Persephone Books

Persephone Books reprints neglected fiction and non-fiction by mid-twentieth century (mostly) women writers. All of our 128 books are intelligent, thought-provoking and beautifully written and are chosen to appeal to busy people wanting titles that are neither too literary nor too commercial.

Clavis & Clastra

Clavis & Clastra is an independent feminist publisher, celebrating women and queer people in history with an epic range of stationery and gifts. We have been closing the book on patriarchy since 2015.

FILiA

We are the daughters of the women who came before us; women who fought for our children, our bodies, ourselves. The FILiA 2018 conference brings together sisters taking down patriarchy, fighting injustices across the world, fighting violence towards women, pay disparity, discrimination against refugees, racism, classism. No topic is taboo. All are welcome.

@FILiA\_charity

FOCX Underwear

FOCX has been selling bespoke, British, limited-edition, unisex underwear since 2011. Our underwear provides supreme comfort, quality, and fit in sizes UK 6 to UK 26 and is handmade in Nottingham by 87 year-old Beryl Chambers and her family.

@FOCXLTD

Fawcett Society

The Fawcett Society has been campaigning for women's rights for over 150 years through impactful research and hard-hitting campaigns. Equality won't happen if we don't fight for it. We've got to make it happen.

50:50 Parliament

50:50 Parliament drives towards an inclusive gender-balanced parliament by encouraging, inspiring and supporting political engagement, particularly from women. In addition, we lobby Parliament and the political parties to be more inclusive of women. We are impatient for change and are taking action.

@5050Parliament

Alliance For Choice

Demanding Reproductive Justice: we are breaking the stigma around abortion and campaigning for abortion seekers in Northern Ireland to get the free, safe and legal healthcare they need.

@All4Choice

Women's Environmental Network

WEN is a national membership charity working to empower and inform women and men who care about the environment. We give a woman's perspective on mainstream issues such as waste and work on issues like sanitary wear, nappies, breast cancer and pollution which are especially relevant to women.

@WEN\_UK

Vintage Rogues

Vintage Rogues' vision is to reverse the trend of the over-production of short lived disposable items by rescuing quality textiles and fabrics alongside leather from English saddlery. We repurpose these by hand-stitching them into beautiful bags and handbags.

@LetterboxLib

Letterbox Library is a children's bookseller specialising in books which celebrate equality, inclusion and diversity. We are a not-for-profit social enterprise. Letterbox Library was set up in a Hackney front room in 1983 by two single mums who couldn't find books for their daughters showing girls in meaningful roles.

@LetterboxLib

NatWest Bank

At NatWest we recognise the benefit of working together to provide better outcomes for all. NatWest are delighted to support the Women's Equality Party conference.

Centre for Women's Justice

Centre for Women's Justice is a charity committed to holding the state to account for failures in the prevention of violence against women and girls. We undertake strategic litigation and facilitate access to legal assistance to secure justice for women who have suffered injustice as a result of systemic malpractice.

@centreWJ

The Feminist Library

The Feminist Library in London is one of the most important collections of feminist material in the UK. We've provided an inspiring learning and social space for researchers, activists and community projects since 1975 as a volunteer-run collective.

@feministlibrary

Wish

Wish is the only national, user-led charity that works with women with mental health needs in prisons, hospitals and in the community. We provide independent advocacy, emotional support and practical guidance through all the stages in a woman's experience of the mental health and criminal justice system.

@Wishcharity

Agenda

Agenda, the alliance for women and girls at risk, is working to build a society where women and girls are able to live their lives free from inequality, poverty and violence. We campaign for women and girls facing abuse, poverty, poor mental health, addiction and homelessness to get the support and protection they need.

@Agenda\_alliance

WHO'S WHO

WE TEAM

Sophie Walker Leader of the Women's Equality Party

Sophie was elected as the first Party Leader in February 2018 with over 90% of the vote.

Sophie is determined to put women's rights and the diversity of women's experiences at the top of the UK political agenda. She is intent on getting more women into politics – offering childcare support and low-income bursaries to new candidates for WE – and on working with all political parties towards gender equality.

Role at Party Conference

Sophie will deliver the leader's speech on Saturday afternoon. She will also join the 'This Century is Ours' panel and lead the 'Any Answers' session.

@SophieRunning

Catherine Mayer Co-founder and President of the Women's Equality Party, author and journalist

Catherine is the author of three books, Amortality: The Pleasures and Perils of Living Agelessly, Charles: The Heart of a King and Attack of the Fifty Foot Women. She spent more than three decades as a journalist before co-founding the Women's Equality Party.

Role at Party Conference

Catherine will be chairing the 'Big Data: Will Technology Fix Inequality or Deepen It?' and 'Victims, Vamps & Feminazis' sessions on Saturday.

@catherine\_mayer

Sandi Toksvig Co-founder and MC of the Women's Equality Party, broadcaster and writer

Sandi is well known to UK audiences as a broadcaster, having begun her career in children's television playing Ethel in Number 73. Since then her TV career has included Call My Bluff and Whose Line Is It Anyway?, QI and The Great British Bake Off. Her radio career includes The News Quiz (as chair).

Role at Party Conference

Sandi will lead 'Grossly Undervalued Domestic Product' session and MC of the WE Comedy FUNdraiser on Saturday night.
